Bits and Pieces

Lost Property

The lost property box is full and many of the items inside it have no names on. Please ensure that all items of clothing are named so they can be returned promptly. The lost property box is kept by the back double doors and it will be put outside every Friday at the end of the day (if it's not raining) for parents to check.

Open Classroom Afternoon

Thank you to all the parents and carers who came in for the Open Classrooms afternoon. It was really lovely to look at all the work and enthusiasm that went into the children's projects and see their proud faces as they shared them. I hope parents/carers found the literacy and maths lessons helpful and used the time to speak to Mrs Williams about the homework policy and the benefits of the home school learning project. The next projects are due back in the week beginning the 17th December and parents/carers are invited into school for open classrooms afternoon on 10th January from 2:00 – 3:00.

This Week's News

Remembrance Day

To commemorate Remembrance Day the children in Chestnut Class will be finding out about two soldiers who were buried at North Cove Church. Then as a sign of respect they will walk down to the churchyard and lay two crosses on the soldier's graves. The children will share what they have found out in a special remembrance assembly. There will be a 1 minute silence which will end with Anna Knight playing The Last Post on her cornet.

Healthy Eating

A selection of Pupil Parliament children went to Halesworth Golf Club this week to take part in discussions and debates around healthy active lifestyles with other children in the Academy. As part of the discussion the schools' food policy was looked at and pupil parliaments are hoping to make some small changes. To compliment the changes that are being made the children have invited Mike James from One Life Suffolk to do a share morning all about healthy eating. He will be in school on 27th November from 9:00 – 10:30 working with Willow and Chestnut Classes and then he will work with Oak class from 11:00 – 12:00. He is inviting parents of all children in the school to come to the morning workshop from 9:00 – 10:30 to see how you can support your child with healthy eating at home. A big thank you to Mrs Sharman for all of her hard work organising these special events.

Playground

It has come to our attention that hard balls are being kicked around on the playground and on the field before the school whistle at 8:45. To avoid anyone being injured we asked that no balls are used during this time.
